CHRISTIAN CHURCH CONVENTION IN LONG BEACH

Rev. C. S. Medbury of Des Moines, Iowa, Will Be Principal Speaker

SESSION AUGUST 1 TO 7

Rev. Clifford A. Cole, Pastor of First Christian Church Here, Chairman

Plans are being made for the Southern California convention of the Christian church, which will be held in Long Beach, August 1 to 7.

Dr. Clifford A. Cole, pastor of the First Christian church of Glendale, is chairman of the program committee. He announces that Rev. Chas. S. Medbury, pastor of University Place Christian church, of Des Moines, Ia., will be the principal speaker. Rev. Medbury is said to be a gifted orator; his congregation is one of the largest in the United States. Besides ministering to this large body, Rev. Medbury also lectures in Drake University.

The main sessions of the convention will be held in the municipal auditorium; smaller gatherings will be held in the completed portion of the new Christian church at Fifth street and Locust avenue, and in the old church building at Fourth street and American avenue. These smaller meetings will include afternoon sessions of a training school for Sunday school teachers and missionaries. The First Christian church of Long Beach hoped to have their new edifice entirely finished in time for the convention, but the collapse of the tower and the damage occasioned by its crashing through the unfinished building some months ago, has proven such a setback that the hope of getting the church finished in time for the convention is practically abandoned.

Evangelism, it is said, will have an important part on the program; several new and interesting features will be included.

Among the conspicuous figures at the convention will be that of Rev. C. R. Hudson, formerly pastor of Pomona Christian church, at present the Southern California superintendent of the denomination.

Indications are that the attendance this year will exceed any preceding Christian church convention ever held in Long Beach.

Rev. Cole will meet with his committee in Los Angeles this afternoon to work on program plans which they have now nearly completed.

Gilley, second vice president of the company will be the local manager of this unit which he says will employ between 50 and 60 men.

He found everything going along prosperously and had excellent weather for his trip, encountering no fog until he neared Los Angeles. Elder M. M. Hare will give the baccalaureate sermon at the San Fernando Academy at San Fernando next Saturday.

LOWERING OF TRACK ON PACIFIC ELECTRIC HELD BEFORE STATE RAILROAD COMMISSION

Miss Baldwin Announces Intention to Erect Fine Tourist Hotel at La Ramada if Conditions Can Be Made Favorable—Other Property Owners State Their Intentions to Improve Holdings With High-Class Apartments and Stores

J. I. Wernette, president of the Casa Verdugo Welfare Association is very optimistic about the probable results of the hearing held yesterday before State Railroad Commissioner Loveland at La Ramada on the appeal of the association for the lowering of Pacific Eletric tracks at Stocker and Dryden streets.

Between 50 and 60 persons were present. H. H. Harris represented the association as attorney. The Pacific Electric was represented by Vice President Titcomb, Engineer Weeks and Attorney Karr.

About 15 witnesses testified on behalf of the association on the three points on which the appeal was based, viz.: The inconvenience of tracks above grade, their unsightliness, and the danger to the 50 or 60 children who have to cross the tracks at those points on their way to church, school or to the store.

Testimony was introduced by the Pacific Electric to the effect that the lowering of the tracks from the wash to the end of the line with the lowering of the trolleys, etc., would cost $15,000, and that such an expenditure was not a reasonable demand on top of what the corporation has spent for bridges.

The association in rebuttal introduced testimony by an engineer who had served with Goethals on the Panama Canal to the effect that the expense should not exceed $10,000.

Business men urged the lowering of tracks declaring their locations were damaged by present conditions.

Miss Baldwin, one of the owners of La Ramada, urged track lowering on the same ground, announcing an intention to erect a fine tourist hotel at La Ramada if conditions can be made favorable. Several other property owners stated that they had bought in the expectation that the tracks would be lowered and with the intention of improving their holdings with high class apartments and stores.

As a parting threat the Pacific Electric representatives declared if required to lower the tracks they would make application to the railroad commission for permission to remove them altogether from the wash to the end of the line.

Representatives of the Casa Verdugo Welfare Association have no fear that the railroad commission would grant such an application if made, and, as stated above, are hopeful of a favorable decision by Commissioner Loveland and associates on the commission when they have digested all the facts and arguments presented. When that decision will be rendered they have no means of knowing.

Fighting Expected

(By International News Service)

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., May 17.—Renewal of the fighting on the Tug river front on a big scale appears certain within a day or two. Everything points to May 19—anniversary of the battle of Matewan—as the crucial day when this mountain warfare is to be resumed.

Information filtering through the mountains is to the effect that there is much activity going on behind the lines and it is known that the attacking parties entrenched in the fastness of the mountain slopes which flank the river front have been busy preparing for further operations.

A great army of union miners is massing in Mingo county, West Virginia, and Pike county, Kentucky, with the avowed purpose of opening a further offensive against the non-union workers in these counties, according to word reaching Sheriff Pinson.

It is stated that all union men from Kermit in the west, to War Eagle in the east, have been ordered to mobilize. This stretches the front to a distance of 50 miles.

TOURING THE UNITED STATES IN PRAIRIE SCHOONER

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Hibben Arrive in Auto House All Equipped

Dr. W. P. Fread and wife, and Mrs. Fread's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dondanbille, of Ottawa, Ill., who have been guests for a short time of Mr. street, are bidding them goodby today stret, are bidding them goodby today to resume a continental tour.

They left their home last August and do not expect to see it again until next August. In the meantime they have been seeing our United States in the most comfortable, independent manner imaginable, for the doctor had a car specially built for the journey and it is worth going some distance to see.

Upon a Reo truck chassis he caused a body to be built 6 by 14 feet in floor dimensions, and six feet high. It is equipped with a gas stove, fireless cooker, electric light, cupboards for dishes and utensils, a table which folds into the floor, a lavatory that folds up, a portable bathtub, one full sized bed that folds into a settee during the day, a three-quarters bed across the seat used by the driver, which also folds up. There are receptacles for groceries, for clothing and the furnishings even include a victrola. Pullman windows, which let down, are fitted with screens and curtains.

Starting from Ottawa August 7, they made a quick trip of 1600 miles in 12 days to the Yellowstone park, via the Yellowstone trail. After seeing the park thoroughly, they went on to Seattle and then down the coast to California, which they reached in November and which they have seen pretty thoroughly. Their return trip will be by way of Northern California via the coast route, their first long stop being in the Yosemite valley.

It has been a pleasure trip pure and simple. When the doctor was asked if he did not plan to return to California to live, he said: "It is a wonderful state alright, but we cannot all live here. Some of us must stay in the east to keep things going there."

Dog-Muzzling Law Arouses Many Protests

Mrs. C. T. Huddy, Colorado State Humane Officer, Urges That Mass Meeting Be Called and Publicity Given to Question—Will Call Mass Meeting

Protests against the dog-muzzling ordinance continue to come in to the news rooms of the Daily Press. One of the protestants is Mrs. C. T. Huddy, 112 South Everett street. Mrs. Huddy is the Colorado state humane officer; she has held that position for the past five years. She came here from Denver for the benefit of her health.

"I have been engaged in humane work for 25 years," says Mrs. Huddy, "in Boston, my native city, and in various other places. I am a member of Our Dumb Friends League in Denver, and of a similar organization in Boston. I know that hydrophobia is a rare disease, much more rare than is generally supposed.

"Most people think that any dog that looks wild or foams at the mouth is suffering from hydrophobia. It is very probable that he is having a fit brought on by a disordered stomach. The dog has a delicate stomach and should not be allowed to rummage in garbage cans and eat things that derange his digestive system. Above all things, he should always have access to drinking water. Then he will not go mad. Neither will he have fits, a condition that looks fearsome but is only a symptom—a symptom of wrong feeding and improper treatment.

"It is a hardship to a dog to be

Oka, Barber to Royalty, Tours with Jap Heir

PARIS, May 17.—M. H. Oka and the Crown Prince of Japan are due to arrive in France this month.

What the Crown Prince looks like and what are his daily habits, few Frenchmen know. But everyone knows all about M. H. Oka. The French newspapers have devoted hundreds of words to informing the people all about him.

For Oka is the world's most highly thought of barber. Not only is he the only razor-wielder and hair cutter to whom the Japanese Crown Prince will entrust his life, but he specializes on imprial and royal beards, numbering among his clients the Crown Prince Carol of Rumania and Prince Arthur of Connaught. The Crown Prince would never have boarded the cruiser Katal for his European tour had he not known that his favorite and only barber was there with razors, clippers, scissors, hair tonics and powder puffs.

Half the Crown Prince's mornings he turns over to Oka. After Oka has shaved, powdered and hair-oiled his majesty he is free. He may go into the imperial gardens and pick cherries or shout "next" to some other Japanese potentate who pleases his fancy. But if the potentate doesn't please his fancy Oka just picks cherries. Next to the Crown Prince his favorites are the Princes Kasumigaseki and Akaseka.

This is Oka's first visit to Europe. He nearly shed tears when he learned that he couldn't meet his old friend, Prince Arthur, because Prince Arthur is in South Africa.

The Crown Prince, Japanese newspapers announce, is bringing to Europe 1500 trunks and valises and two costly strings of pearls, one for the wife of the President of France and the other for the Queen of England.

EARLY DECISION IN MARY PICKFORD DIVORCE CASE

Claimed That State's Interest in Divorce Suit Does Not Go Beyond Court

RENO, Nev., May 17.—An early decision in the Mary Pickford divorce case may be expected.

Judge F. R. Langan of Douglas county expects to resume consideration of the case within two or three days upon his return to Minden, he announced here today.

"The Pickford divorce case was submitted to me in the Douglas county district court about a month and a half ago," Judge Langan said, "but other matters have taken so much of my time that I have been unable to go into the Pickford matter thoroughly. Upon my return to Minden, however, I intend to devote considerable time to the question."

Attorneys for the moving picture actress and Attorney General Fowler submitted the Pickford case to Judge Langan, after briefs had been filed. Attorneys for the movie star question the right of the attorney general to interfere in the case, claiming that the state's interest in a divorce suit does not go beyond the court. A motion was also made to quash the service of summons on Mrs. Fairbanks for her appearance to show why the divorce granted her by Judge Langan, from Moore, should not be set aside.

In answering the summons her attorneys claimed a special appearance and did not claim to submit her to the jurisdiction of the court. Lack of the Nevada court to summon Mrs. Fairbanks from Los Angeles is now claimed by the attorneys.

Possibility that the case may go immediately to the state supreme court before Judge Langan renders his decision was the belief expressed by Attorney General Fowler today. If the decision of Judge Langan is not taken to the higher courts the case will be tried on its merit in the district court, he said.

GAS POISON CLAIMS LAST SON OF FAMILY

(By International News Service)

DENVER, May 17.—A story of one family's sacrifice in the world war pregnant with pathos, was revealed here in the death of Lieutenant Edward G. Skeggs, who succumbed to the ravages of tuberculosis after a long struggle in a vain effort to regain his health.

Three brothers, Alfred, John and Edward Skeggs, motivated by a high sense of patriotism, dedicated their lives to the cause of humanity in the world war, the two first named joining the famous Princess Pat regiment of the Canadian army, and the latter enlisting in the armed forces of Uncle Sam on the day that a state of war was declared to exist between the United States and Germany.

Alfred, the older brother, was killed in action in Flanders and his body rests beneath the poppy fields there; John, a sergeant, in the distinguished Canadian regiment that was badly riddled on the western front, was seriously wounded and gassed. After being invalided back to Canada, his health gradually ebbed and he died in Quebec.

Third Brother Dies

George, the third brother, who died at his home here recently, became a member of the 157th infantry, a Colorado unit, and sacrificed his health on the far-flung battlefields of the Argonne Forest and along the Meuse river. As the result of exposure to gas and the rigors of the fighting in those major engagements, he contracted tuberculosis. He was brought home and after a long period of treatment at Fitzsimmons hospital, the army hospital in this city, he was discharged in August, 1920, it being believed that his health had greatly improved. Since then he had been living with his wife, Mrs. Daisy de Forest Skeggs.

Skeggs' death came suddenly at a time when it was thought that he had successfully combatted the dread disease. Lieutenant Skeggs, who won his commission in France, after enlisting as a private, was 31 years old, and is survived by his widow.

Skeggs had previously served an enlistment in the army, having seen service in China and the Philippine islands.

ASK PRAYERS FOR THE CITY COUNCIL

(By International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore., May 17.—That the city council of Portland should be a subject of prayer is the mature conclusion of the Portland Ministerial Association—and other citizens may agree with the reverend body.

The ministers have sent a request to City Commissioner Pier that all sessions of the council be opened with prayer hereafter.

There is no budget appropriation for prayers for the city fathers, however, and adoption of the suggestion will depend on whether the ministers consider the need great enough to voluntarily offer their services.

ALLEGED ABDUCTOR OF MAX ERNEST ARRESTED

Threatened Boy's Life After Father Had Refused to Lift Mortgage

DETROIT, Mich., May 17.—Mrs. Evelyn Elizabeth Lewen is held today as the slayer of Max Ernest, six years old, who was kidnapped last Wednesday and whose body was found in a ditch on the outskirts of the city last night. Two boys found the body.

Mrs. Lewen was arrested Saturday as the alleged abductor of the boy. It is alleged she had threatened the boy's life after his father had refused to lift a chattel mortgage he held on Mrs. Lewen's furniture. The chief clew held by the police today is a gray hair which was found on the boy's clothing.

The body of the lad bore bruises which indicated he had been beaten and choked to death.

"The boy's mouth had been stuffed with grass and mud. The face was mottled and bore signs of bruises. The hair was matted over the forehead, the sides of which were bruised.

Mrs. Lewen was taken to the morgue today and shown the murdered boy.

"Do you recognize him?" she was asked.

"No," she replied. "The last time I saw him he was wearing a cap."

TRY TO BREAK WALKING RECORD

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 17.—Kirby McRill, the "man with the steel legs," has come out of the wilds of Kansas to prove he's the greatest long-distance pedestrian in the world. McRill is a Kansas farmer and a raw-boned hiker whose one ambition is to walk the long trail from New York to San Francisco in shorter time than any other cross-country trekker.

It's a little jaunt of 3895 miles from New York to San Francisco and McRill has figured it right down to a mere matter of taking 9,640,211 steps, which is not so many, after all, to a Kansas farmer like McRill, who says it's a mere bag o' shells to him to hike 25 miles to town, enjoy an afternoon's picnic and then hike back again in the evening.

McRill has been a walker since he was four years old and walked so far away from the farmhouse that it tired his daddy all out to find him. He won a walking race from Kansas City to Chicago recently against time and also holds a record for walking from Chicago to Milwaukee.

The "man with the steel legs" they call him, for as yet he has never been leg weary on a hike. On one occasion, to test the enduring powers of his muscular legs, he walked 135 miles without a stop. Those legs of steel never failed him as mile after mile was clicked off on his pedometer. Finally, however, he says that he began to lose his sense of hearing. Next his eyesight began to fail and he could no longer see distinctly. He was forced to stop at the end of the 135th mile, but his legs never gave out.

Confident He Will Break Record

"I intend to break all cross-country records in my walk from ocean to ocean this summer," McRill said today. "Edward Payson Weston walked it in 105 days, and John Ennis did the same distance in 80 days and five hours. I can smash both records, I believe, for I can maintain an average of between 50 and 60 miles a day on the trip."

McRill has secured Judge Isaacsohn, a well-known Kansas City promoter and trainer, as his manager and is already practising cross-country hikes in Kansas from his home at Tonganoxie to points 100 miles away. He wears a No. 11 shoe and a pair lasts him ordinarily 400 miles.

ANNIVERSARY IS COMMEMORATED

WINNIPEG, Man., May 17.—Flags are spread to the wind at every fur post of the Hudson's Bay company, in Canada, this month to commemorate the company's 251st anniversary. Last year the 250th anniversary was celebrated as a national event with pageants in the cities of western Canada. Sir Robert Kindersley, governor of the company, came from England to be present. This year no formal celebration will take place.

The charter signed by King Charles II, in 1670 made the company owner in fee simple of all lands draining into Hudson bay. As its explorers and trappers pushed into the wilderness the company came in time to rule three-fourths of North America. For 200 years the Canadian west had virtually no history except that of the Hudson's Bay company.

The company surrendered its sovereignity to Canada in 1870. It is now closing out to farm settlers the lands remaining of its old empire in the prairie provinces and is still a great merchant with a chain of department stores extending across the western part of Canada from Winnipeg to Victoria. But it has lost none of its prestige in the fur trade.

You oughtn't to paint the lily, of course, but a lot of girls we know are no lilies.

LABOR LEADER DEFENDS CAPITAL

By EARLE C. REEVES
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

LONDON, May 17.—Austin Hopkinson, M. P., ex-coal miner and maker of coal-cutting machinery, who has reverted to simple life in a cottage because he believes it is the only way to avert revolution has taken sharp issue with British socialistic leaders who announce they are "out to destroy capitalism."

The charge that the unemployment crisis has been provoked by business men for their own purposes he brands as a "cold and calculated lie." He defends capitalism, and, as a man who within a few years has seen labor problems from both the workers' and employers' sides, analyzes the present crisis as follows:

"If there were no capitalism we should eat up all the corn produced in the world each year and save none for seed corn for the next harvest. This is exactly what Lenin has done in Russia, with the result that now, in order to avoid starvatioin of a large section of the population, he is striving frantically to reintroduce capitalism on any terms, even going so far as to offer concessions to foreign capitalists which would involve the practical slavery of a large section of his fellow countrymen.

"The unemployment crisis is due entirely to the attempt with government assistance to maintain the average standard of living at a height which the economic situation of Europe does not justify.

Consumption Too Great

"Men are out of work because we cannot sell our products. We cannot sell our products because our prices are higher than people can pay. Our prices are higher than people can pay because our costs are so high. Our costs are excessive because men's wages are too high—or, in other words, men are consuming more than they are producing.

"The average standard of living in this and every other country in the world is going to come down—perhaps even to the 1914 standard.

"The number of people in the world is about the same as in 1914, and the amount of stuff is very much less. So a reduced standard of living is inevitable, and cannot be dodged by any device of any kind. The vast bulk of the working class of this country know it, and from intimate experience with them, both in peace and in war, I am convinced that they will face the position like men, if only they know that no one else is benefitting by their sufferings.

"Hence, though the ultimate general prosperity will be greater if great accumulations of capital continue to be made, yet the situation is such today that what is economically sound may not be immediately expedient.

"Therefore, in my opinion, we who are in a position to accumulate capital should refrain from doing so, at any rate for a period."

Hopkinson is refraining from accumulating capital by giving up his country mansion and servants, living in a cottage by the canal-side and giving his workers a profit sharing plan under which, when profits reach a certain height, he draws no income at all from his plant.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Richard Washburn Child has been named by the President as ambassador to Italy, it was announced at the White House this morning. The nomination of Child will be sent to the Senate this afternoon, together with that of Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, former president of Cornell University, as ambassador to China. Richard Washburn Child is a resident of New York and is a writer of some note, although being a lawyer by profession. He was at one time editor of Colliers magazine. During the recent campaign he was attached to President Harding's headquarters at Marion.

NOTORIOUS CONVICT COMMITS SUICIDE

Biscaro, With Long Prison Record, Sends Bullet Through Heart

RAWLINS, Wyo., May 17.—Albert Biscaro, 37, notorious convict, with a long prison record, is dead today with a self-inflicted bullet through the heart following his sensational escape from the Wyoming state penitentiary here.

Biscaro succeeded in getting outside the prison walls by making hostages of Dr. Raymond Barber, the prison physician, and R. A. Magor, county clerk, both of whom he threatened to kill unless his orders were obeyed.

The desperado, confined in the prison infirmary, was armed with a revolver said by officials to have been smuggled into him by his wife, who has been arrested.

When Dr. Barber and Magor entered the infirmary yesterday, Biscaro covered them with his weapon and compelled the physician to exchange clothes with him. He then summoned Warden Hadsell and told the latter that unless the guards were withdrawn from the prison walls, the gates opened and Dr. Barber's automobil placed at his disposal at the infirmary door, he would kill both Barber and Magor.

To save the two men's lives, the warden agreed to the demand, and Biscaro, Dr. Barber and Magor were soon headed for Casper in the physician's high-powered car.

KOLCHAK CHARGED WITH CRUELTY

By NEWTON C. PARKE
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

PARIS, May 17.—Women sympathizers with the Bolshevik cause received shocking treatment at the hands of Admiral Kolchak's army and other troops sent against the Reds, according to an article just publisned by the French Communist paper l'Humanite. Anastasia Schaschmina, the "mother of the Bolshevik movement," met a particularly horrible death, says l'Humanite. It was in her home that the Communist movement was started in 1911 and under the Czarist regime one of her sons was banished to Siberia and another son and daughter imprisoned. When Czecho-Slovak troops entered Russia to campaign against the Bolsheviks, every member of the Schaschmina family was arrested and two more sons condemned to death, according to the French newspaper. Anastasia was released but afterward rearrested and taken before a tribunal for examination. She was first whipped until she was half dead in an effort to extract secrets of the Bolshevik organization. After spending some time in a hospital she was dragged before another tribunal, l'Humanite says, and again beaten because she refused to give any information. Then, covered with blood, she was carried into a field, placed beside one of her condemned sons and shot to death as she embraced him.

Eudokia Kowaltschuk was another "martyr to the cause of Communism," reports l'Humanite. She belonged to a secret association of Reds in the city of Novo-Nicolaievsk. In 1918 she was arrested by the White Guards. She refused to defend herself or give any information when brought into court. She was lashed with a heavy whip until her clothes were cut from her body. Then, still unconscious, she was carried into a dark, humid cave. When she regained consciousness she hung herself to escape further tortures.

The invasion of Kolchak's forces into Siberia was the signal for all kinds of crimes against women, l'Humanite charges. Some were hung at the nearest lamppost or shot down at the doors of their homes. Others were subjected to horrible tortures.

FRANCE LAYS PLANS FOR ANOTHER WAR

By NEWTON C. PARKE
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

PARIS, May 17.—France will not be caught napping in the next war.

Plans for industrial, economic and agriculaural, as well as military mobilization of the country's resources at a moment's notice, are being worked out by a group of members of the chamber of deputies, headed by Lieutenant Colonel Fabry, noted military critic. They take into account not only technical needs in time of warfare, but the morale of the French and the enemy population and the question of alliances with other powers.

Marshal Foch, Marshal Joffre, members of the supreme war council, Generals Nivelle, Debeney, Maistre and a number of the coming men in the French military establishment have been consulted on purely technical details. Former President Poincare and several present and former cabinet members have contributed suggestions for a "moral" mobilization of the French people and for undermining opinion in enemy countries from the very outbreak of war.

The retention of compulsory military service is naturally the first feature of these plans. With this in view the deputies' group will be on the alert to combat any attempt by the radical socialists or communists to defeat conscription, though there is little likelihood that any serious attempt will be made for many years.

The second feature which concerns only the military experts, calls for the drawing up of plans to prevent a repetition of the invasion of France by the Germans at the outbreak of the world war, and to make France's frontier absolutely inviolable. In no other way, it is pointed out, can the nation's industrial resources be entirely at her disposal during a war.

Seek Good Will of Allies

A complete census of French industrial establishments will be taken. This will note the rapidity with which they can be adapted to the manufacture of war supplies, their situation with reference to quick transportation of war products and the extent to which their male workers may be replaced by women.

The agricultural census will be no less complete. It is planned to have at all times in the possession of the government minutely detailed statistics regarding production in every commune, the degree to which that production will be reduced by the withdrawal of farm workers for service in the army and the centers from which food supplies may be most quickly and cheaply handled.

Both the industrial and agricultural census will be renewed from time to time and kept as up-to-date as the plans of the military strategists.

The first conclusion reached by the deputies in their study of the political aspects of France's safety is that the maintenance of close cooperation with the United States and England is an absolute necessity.

"So long as France, the United States and England find themselves on the same side, the return of war is impossible," said Lieutenant Colonel Fabry. "Without yielding any bit of her national pride France should continue her international policy in this channel."

REFLECT MENTAL STATUS OF WOMEN

(By International News Service)

WELLESLEY, Mass., May 17.—"The costumes convential in the past seven years which have made the flat chest effect and slouch so popular among women have a ruinous effect upon the posture and consequently the health of girls," said Dr. J. E. Goldthwaite in a lecture at Wellesley college.

"Costumes are deliberately planned without regard to health," the doctor declared. "The costumes are fashioned by Paris designers to suit the needs of the French coquette and to emphasize certain physical characteristics. They are copied and brought over here for unsuspecting and pure girls. The French lady does not puzzle on what the French coquette does, but our American girls do. When one is walking down the streets of Boston one cannot tell by dress whether the girl is true or not.

"There are two things which designers change most with the times. They are the waist line and the feet. High heels and costumes which demand a corset that does not permit an erect, queenly carriage are dangerous.

"No woman should neglect beauty, grace and all the elements which bring out the charms which are her right. But no woman should feel like a frump who has trained herself to stand erect and wear the dress which will permit it.

"The moral and spiritual state of the mind is expressed in the carriage. It is the college woman, the educated woman, who should set an example to her other sisters. But more often she is forgetful. We have only to go back to the Greeks and the Egyptians to prove the beauty and value of costumes which allow an erect, queenly posture."

Dr. Goldthwaite also made a plea for dress reform to lessen the deplorable immorality of the present day. "The future of mankind is in the hands of the college girl. She may teach other girls to do with less restraint what she does, or she may set an example of finesse which will help boys in college," Dr. Goldthwaite said.

HEADS MINE WAR IN GREAT BRITAIN

(By International News Service)

LONDON, May 17.—A young man, spare, of middle height, with deep-set eyes looking out from a face sharp, keen and intelligent, earnest with the nervous mannerisms which so often bespeak genius — this is Mr. Frank Hodges, secretary of the Miners' Federation, who was the central figure of the recent mining trouble.

Though his offer of resignation is surprising, coming at such a critical moment in the history of the federation, it has been known to many that Hodges has had ambitions to the secretaryship of the International Miners" Federation.

Frank Hodges has often been called by men who do not like him the "dangerous intellectual" of the miners.

Hodges is 34. He was a miner before he won a scholarship at Ruskin college, Oxford. His dream was for years—emancipation from capitalism. His ideals and ambitions were formed and moulded in a coal mine. At the end of 1918 he became general secretary to the miners.

His aim has always been to increase the value of coal. For this purpose he sometimes employed the extremer elements among the miners. At heart, however, he himself is not a Bolshevik.

Hodges was born in a Welsh mining district, where imagination and vision are common, and where that restless, inconsistent, highly-tuned thing known as the Celtic temperament is to be reckoned with. Add to this the great benefit of a good education and one can more easily realize the puzzling figure which is Frank Hodges.

HEIR TO BRITISH TITLE DON'T WANT IT

DETROIT, May 17.—A seat in the house of lords and a fortune estimated at $1,250,000, awaits Francis B. Courtney, head of the foundry planning department of the Cadillac Motor Car, company, when he arrives in England. Courtney, who has booked passage to England by way of Montreal, says he doesn't care a snap for the title of baron and intends to return to the United States just as soon as the estate can be settled.

Death of an uncle whose two sons were killed in the world war, made Courtney the heir to the estate and position. A local trust company found him here.

Courtney could assume the title of baron and control the lands of Chiselhurst. He said just before leaving, however, that he would never adopt the title.

"I was contented before this great fortune came to me," he said, "and I am coming back to my country for my heart is here."

Changes Position

(By International News Service)

SACRAMENTO, May 17. — Merit of another state official, who achieved an excellent record, has been recognized in private enterprise in the appointment of Arthur Baker, deputy state purchasing agent, as purchasing agent of the California farm bureau federation with headquarters in San Francisco and Oakland.

Mr. Baker, who was formerly city purchasing agent of Los Angeles, and for the last two years has assisted W. G. McMillan, state purchasing agent, in the management of his department, is the third state official who within a few weeks has retired to much more lucrative positions in business life. His resignation becomes effective June 8, according to announcement by Governor Stephens today. The recently organized California farm bureau federation will be under the general management of Fred W. Bigelow, who has resigned the office of secretary of the state market commission to handle the farm bureaus embracing more than 30,000 farmers and 15 county farm bureau exchanges.

APOINTMENT WON BY MARINE PRIVATE

WASHINGTON, May 17. — When President Harding reviewed the Atlantic fleet off Hampton Roads, the proudest man aboard the Mayflower was Private Tiggard, who was detailed by Commander Holmes to act as the president's personal orderly.

Tiggard's presence on the presidential yacht was due to the good offices of Mrs. Harding. The marine corps private was stationed in New Orleans when the president and Mrs. Harding made their visit to Point Isabel, Texas, after the election. Tiggard was detailed to the wireless station there and was assigned as a radio messenger for the president-elect.

During the visit of the president-elect and Mrs. Harding, the car driven by their host, R. B. Craeger, ran into Tiggard one day, knocking him down. Although he was badly bruised he refused hospital treatment and continued his daily duties with great cheerfulness. Mrs. Harding was impressed with the personality of the young man and soon after she became mistress of the White House, sent for Commander Holmes of the Mayflower, and informed him she wished Tiggard transferred to the marine detachment aboard the presidential yacht. This was soon accomplished, and now Tiggard, who is a striking-looking soldier, has the distinction of being the first enlisted man to serve as the president's personal aid.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS

WASHINGTON, May 17.—President Harding is understood to have informed Republican senators that he favors the maintenance and development of a "strong" American navy able to afford the United States every protection in any emergency, it was disclosed today when the senate resumed consideration of the $500,000,000 navy appropriation bill.

Although it is not officially announced that this policy had been communicated to the Soviet authorities, it is understood that they are informed that the present administration has taken his attitude.

MEXICO CITY, May 17.—Frank Seamen, who was described as an American "radical" and three Spaniards, were deported from Mexico today for complicity in the red demonstration in the chamber of deputies Saturday night, when Socialists invaded the building with red flags. The deportees were sent out of the country by way of Laredo.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 17.—Police are guarding the water front here today following a pitched battle between strikers and strikebreakers last night, in which one strikebreaker was badly beaten up. Frank Mason, suffering from the attack of marine workers, said he would swear out "John Doe" warrants for the arrest of his assailants in the belief that he would be able to identify several. Two men were captured, but the police could obtain little information from them. No shots were fired during the fighting, sticks and fists being the principal weapons. Police report the situation quiet today.

WASHINGTON, May 17. — Senator Hiram Johnson of California was today in receipts of telegrams from fruit and produce growers of the Pacific coast, asking that he appear before the senate interstate commerce committee investigating the railroad situation, to appeal for some remedy for the high freight rates to the coast. The growers stated that their shipments now totalled 50,000 cars annually.

PRESIDENT ON ECONOMY

In his letter to members of his cabinet, made public recently, President Harding struck at a great evil—namely, that of deficiency of appropriations. There are, of course, as the president said, "strictly legal deficiencies," and these must be provided for, and can be provided for under the law, and in strict accordance with it. But there are others. Mr. Harding said in his letter:

Not all of these sums are of this character. I notice that some are for new work and have no place whatsoever in deficiency bills. It would seem that heads of departments and government establishments and officers of the government charged with the responsibility of submission of estimates should be held to a strict accountability. Now that the war is over, there seems to be little excuse for the various departments and establishments not conducting their expenditures more nearly within their appropriations.

The deficiency appropriations in the pending bill already amount to $216,000,000, and it almost certainly will grow into $400,000,000 when the estimates are all in, and may go as high as $500,000,000. "We can never," said the president, "fix ourselves firmly on a basis of economy until the departments are conducted within the provisions made by congress." Department heads and bureau chiefs have no right whatever to undertake new work for which no appropriations have been made, and then to expect congress to treat the amount thus spent as a deficiency, for it is no such thing. This practice has evidently grown to formidable proportions. There are many people in this country, and doubtless many men in the government service, who make up their minds that "something ought to be done," and then go ahead and do it, without thinking of the cost, or indeed of whether there is any money available. The president would have congress quit appropriating money for "deficiencies" that are not deficiencies, and have the departments and bureaus live within their means. The advice is good. The heads of the departments will, of course, co-operate with the president, and also, in accordance with his request, "call this matter to the attention of the various bureau chiefs, so that a like situation may not be reported in future." If new legislation is needed to deal with this matter, it should be promptly enacted.—Indianapolis News.

A BOLSHEVIST OVERSIGHT

Even many of their worst enemies do not deny to the leaders of the soviet government a high degree of political sagacity, but by neglecting one act, which would have cost them almost nothing, they show a misjudgment, or at any rate a defiance, of the psychology of Americans. There are, in prisons and concentration camps in Russia, a small number of not at all important American citizens, locked up perhaps for good reasons, but more often, doubtless, for very inadequate ones. This fact is a constant irritation to many Americans, and is easily used by people who find it convenient that something or other should continually trouble our vision of Russia. Just lately the United States government appears to have taken the position that it can have no dealings with soviet Russia until all American prisoners are released. So the soviets have lost the opportunity of making what might have appeared a generous and friendly gesture at no loss to themselves, tangible or intangible.—The New Republic.

WOMAN'S COZY CORNER

By JOSEPHINE FRANCE

Nested Eggs

Separate the whites from the yolks of the eggs, beat the whites to a stiff froth, and lay the yolks aside. Have ready slices of toast made from slices of bread cut rather thick. Put a layer of minced ham or tongue on toast, then pile a portion of the stiffly beaten white of egg on this. Make a depression in the center of it and drop the yolk into this. Season with salt and pepper and bake just until the eggs are set. Very few small fragments of ham or tongue will serve for this dish, and only a very small amount of the meat is required.

Filipino Eggs

Slices of toast, strips of green pepper, slices of broiled ham or bacon, eggs, seasoning.

Have the slices of ham or bacon cut very thin and broiled delicately. Keep these hot while preparing the eggs. Cut the peppers into thin strips, remove all seeds, scald the peppers, and lay these aside also. Poach the eggs, in number according to the number of persons to be served, then dish as follows:

Trim the toast so that the slices are uniform in size and shape; trim the bacon or ham to fit the toast; lay it on the toast, then arrange the strips of peppers over the ham and lastly place the eggs on top of all. Sprinkle with salt and paprika, not forgetting that the ham or bacon is likely to be salty.

Scalloped Eggs With Potatoes

Cut the potatoes into dice and chop the eggs coarsely. Prepare the sauce by blending together two tablespoons of butter, the same of flour, one-quarter teaspoon of pepper and one-third teaspoon of salt, stir these together until the butter is melted and mixed smoothly with the flour, then add the milk, a little at a time, and cook until boiling point is reached, stirring all the time. Continue to simmer for five minutes, then add the grated onion. Grease a baking dish, place in it a layer of potato, then a layer of chopped egg, then a layer of sauce. Proceed in this way until all the ingredients are used. Sift buttered crumbs over the top and bake 25 minutes. To prepare the buttered crumbs, melt a tablespoon of butter in a saucepan, stir into two tablespoons of stale bread crumbs and toss them about until they have absorbed all the butter.

Egg Timbales

Four eggs, one cup milk, slices of fried bread, tomato sauce, salt, pepper and nutmeg.

Beat the eggs just until light—yolks and whites together. Add the milk to them, also the seasonings. Turn into very small molds or custard cups, previously well greased with butter or olive oil, set in a pan of hot water and cook in a moderate oven until the eggs are set, which can be ascertained by testing with the blade of a knife, as in the case of boiled custard. Let them stand a moment after removing from the oven, then turn out onto croutons of fried bread. Surround with tomato sauce.

Once having tried a few of these new recipes, the sensible little cook will soon get away from the old-fashioned ways of cooking eggs.

STUDIO NEWS AND GOSSIP

"Furs seem to drip off the shoulders of the women who shop along this famous avenue—and one can only vaguely guess at the number of millionaires there must be in America.

"The fashionable apartment houses along Park Avenue present a cold and stony face to the street; they remind one of the butler in moving pictures.

"The Statue of Liberty might be called the Lighthouse of the World; it beckons the weary and broken souls from the farthest ends of the earth and seems to wave a cheerful greeting to the home-folk who make port sure of a welcome.

"The subway is like the whale that swallowed Jonah; it swallows Jonahs by the million and coughs them all up at their proper destination.

"The Ritz reminds me of a flower garden that has been planted exclusively to exotic and expensive and rare flowers—heavy tropic blossoms that do not belong to America—a flower garden in which mince stately birds covered with gorgeous plumage, having beady looks in their crafty eyes.

"There are lots of other things—but this is enough to prove to you that while I am not sure I love New York, I'm very sure I find it intensely interesting."

Gibson Gowland, photoplayer, now claims that he was born on the island of Yap, November 1, 1871.

CLAIMS WHIST IS GOOD FOR WOMEN

By MARGERY REX
For International News Service

NEW YORK, May 17.—Make your pastimes an asset. Choose a form of play that will pay. Go in for a game that adds benefit to gaiety and relaxation. In her pleasant afternoons at whist, for instance, a woman may develop unsuspected powers of concentration, cultivate forebearance, patience and good nature.

And these qualities are invaluable to the woman of today, who is taking part in public affairs as never before, according to Mrs. Francis A. Winslow, who recommends whist as a pleasing combination of interest and instruction. As president of the Woman's Whist League, whose 22d annual congress was held recently at the Waldorf-Astoria, Mrs. Winslow has had ample opportunity to observe the effects of the game upon the players.

How Game Benefits Players

"Whist is good for women," Mrs. Winslow says. "It gives them excellent mental training. Too many people look upon games, played to any great extent, as merely something which consumes time with no result but temporary amusement. That is not true of whist.

"I have become a player only in recent years, but have noticed that I have learned a great many points from it. It teaches concentration and quick decision.

"In this day nearly all women are occupied with some public activities, or in positions where they need to use judgment quickly, exercise tact and forebearance.

Requires Intense Thought

"They are taught to center their thoughts on what they are doing at the moment. It is the same in whist. It requires intense thought. Whist teaches women the qualities they need in their forward march of today. It makes them more perfect, if possible. They should take up the pastime instead of many other less useful and less interesting games."

Mrs. Winslow has been able to make her life a happy combination of successful home-making and public interests. Member of many women's clubs, with a record of efficient war work behind her, she is the mother of four children, one a daughter, now married, being a member of the Phi Beta Kappa, and a son a graduate of Williams College.

DISCOVER OIL IN HEART OF SPOKANE

(By International News Service)

SPOKANE, Wash., May 17.—Flames which shot from a stove and burnt Mrs. Alfred L'Ecuyer's arm when she replenished the firebox with coal which had been stored in the basement resulted in the discoveery of oil seeping into the excavation beneath the L'Ecuyer home, in the heart of Spokane's residence district. Several gallons of the fluid were baled from the basement in a day, according to Mrs. L'Ecuyer's account, conveyed by neighbors.

Chief supporter of the theory that an oil gusher has been discovered in the basement, also chief exponent of higher real estate values in the district, is Mrs. William Reeves, a neighbor, who claims to have seen the precious fluid in the L'Ecuyer basement.

To newspaper men Mrs. L'Ecuyer explained the presence of oil by stating that the oozy condition of her basement was caused by seepage from a nearby oil and gasoline servic station.

The foolishness of some men is in direct proportion to the amount of money they have. When they're "broke" is the only time they're sensible.

How It Teaches Forebearance

"Whist," continued Mrs. Winslow, "teaches the greatest quality in the world for women, that of 'give and take.'

"Women must learn forebearance, for each other as well as for the family circle. The woman opposite you in a game should make a certain play perhaps. You know she ought to make it, you hope she will, and then she may not. She then makes you lose all, but you must take it well.

"Learning to accept defeat is fine training for women who take part in public affairs. Yet they must be good winners as well as good losers. Either position requires tact.

"I like to see young people play whist. Unconsciously they begin to concentrate. And they are amused and interested simultaneously with the instructive part of the game.

"People, especially women, can develop all sides of their mind. A woman can be an all-around woman without any loss to her home or family.

FEARED THAT LULL IN FIGHTING ONLY TEMPORARY

Homes Abandoned and Inhabitants Flee to Nearby Mountains

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., May 17.—There was comparative calm all along the Tug river battlefront yesterday. A few stray shots were fired in the sectors where fighting has been heaviest in the last few days. It is feared that the lull is only temporary and more trouble is expected.

One rason assigned for the let up in hostilities is that the supply of ammunition is running low. Reports have filtered through the mountain fastnesses that pleas have been sent to Washington for troops by Governor Morgan and in some quarters the cessation of hostilities is regarded as a strategic move on the part of the leaders of the attacking forces. By stopping the fight, for a while at least the sending of federal troops may be averted and in the meantime the attackers can secure a fresh supply of ammunition. Resumption of hostilities at an opportune time seems certain.

The warfare which has been carried on for three days knows no mercy. At New Howard, scene of heavy fighting Saturday a woman was about to become a mother. Physicans would not venture across the opening space surrounding her home and face possible death. Neighbors had abandoned their homes, but the woman was too ill to flee to the mountains. In the darkness of night there amid a shower of bullets a new life came into the world.

At Merrimac, a woman with a baby in her arms, sought to go to the substation, a short distance away for protection. As she crossed the open space she was fired upon but escaped injury.

HARDING CONSIDERS APPEAL FOR TROOPS

Governors of Kentucky and West Virginia Appeal to Him for Aid

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 17.—President Harding today has under consideration renewed and persistent appeals for federal troops for the West Virginia coal field regions where guerilla warfare has been in progress for four days.

Governor Morrow of Kentucky and Governor Morgan of West Virginia have repeated their requests for aid and it is probable that the whole matter will be laid before the cabinet, today.

Up to this time the President has deemed it inadvisable to dispatch troops to the Tug river district, Major General Reed in command of the fifth army corps area advising against it. The President has held that it would establish a bad precedent to send federal troops to quell disorders.

FATHER AND SON DEAD AS RESULT OF DUEL

KALAMA, Wash., May 17.—Father and son are dead today as the result of a duel fought yesterday when Harvey Ryker, 55-year-old rancher, is alleged to have insulted his son's wife, Myrtle Ryker. According to neighbors, the elder Ryker came to Fred Ryker's home on Little Kalama river under the influence of liquor, and the two quarreled because of remarks made by the older man. A heated argument ensued and guns were resorted to.

The father had drawn a revolver but was temporarily restrained from using it by young Ryker's wife. The son reached for his rifle and, according to Mrs. Ryker, revolver and rifle shots rang out simultaneously as both men fired the fatal bullets.

WRONGLY IDENTIFIED BODY CAUSES MIXUP

(By International News Service)

WORCESTER, Mass., May 17.—With the supposed body of Carl Wilhelm Lemberg, former private in the 301st ammunition train, on its way to Worcester, Lemberg has been positively identified as alive in the Norwich State Hospital for the Insane, while friends here were making plans for holding a military funeral. Red Cross officials and Lemberg's friends were striving to straighten out the tangle and have the soldier's body, now on its way here, properly identified and sent to its proper destination.

LUMBER MILLS ARE VERY BUSY

(By International News Service)

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 17.—Egypt has just placed one of the largest orders for manufactured lumber ever secured by British Columbia. Cablegrams have been received by Vancouver banks confirming the purchase of 24,000,000 feet of railway ties which was placed by an Alexandrian firm, acting as agent for the government of Egypt. One-third of the order will be rushed forward before June 1 by two special steamers of the Canadian government.

Several other big contracts have been placed by interests in England, and every indication points to a cut this year that will far eclipse the record figures of last year, when the province turned out forest products having an aggregate value of $92,628,807. The giant lumber mills along the Grand Trunk Pacific railway, which pierces the vast forest belt of Central British Columbia, are now going full blast.

British Columbia's area of merchantable timber is second in size only to the forests of Central Russia, and with the Russian source shut off the province is now the world's greatest source of timber supply. Statisticians figure that all of Canada has 225,000,000 acres of merchantable timber; that its pulpwood forests cover 350,000 square miles and represent 901,000,000 cords; that theh total timber resources amount to 3,279 billion feet, and that at the present rate of forest destruction the supply would last 62 years.

HOPE ABANDONED FOR GEORGE MIZTEC

(By International News Service)

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., May 17.—Hope for the safety of six men and women who were on board the barge Miztec when it foundered in a gale on Lake Superior was abandoned today. No sign of wreckage of the Miztec has been found.

Those who were aboard the Miztec included Captain K. Pederson, Buffalo, his wife, Mate Robert Campbell, Tonawanda, N. Y., Seaman Eric Johnson and Louis Florence of Bay City, Mich., John Decker of Titusville, Pa., and an unknown seaman who shipped at Port Huron, Mich.

The steamboat Zillah, which had the Miztec in tow made safety in the lee of White Fish point only after her boiler rooms had been flooded and her rudder smashed.

The professor stated that he could not determine whether the code would not be based on the ultimatum, "man must be as good as I," or the defi, "I will be as bad as man is."

LIQUID MIXTURE PETRIFIES FRUIT

(By International News Service)

SUTHERLIN, Ore., May 17.—Ten years ago W. E. St. John, president of the Oregon Growers' Cooperative Association, placed a Spitzenberg apple in a jar and covered it with a liquid mixture intended to preserve it for exhibition purposes. Recently he removed the apple and found it to be stone—petrified, even to a portion of the stem.

St. John does not recall the formula used in preserving the fruit, but is inclined to believe the mixture was very similar to that now being used by bootleggers in the manufacture of their product.

MANHASSET, L. I., May 17.—Georges Carpentier lost no time in getting to work in preparation for his battle with Jack Dempsey. Professor Arthur Cotter Guest at Wemyss Home

Arrived a Few Weeks Ago From Lapland, Where He Went to Study Conditions and Political Relations of Finland and Russia—Student of Languages

Mr. and Mrs. Wemyss of 924 East Windsor road are having very great pleasure in the entertainment of Prof. Arthur Cotter, who is a cousin of both and who is a distinguished world traveler, scholar and linguist.

He arrived in New York a few weeks ago from Lapland where he has been visiting friends and investigating the conditions of the country. Ever since he became a student of languages, of people and countries, he has been deeply interested in the peoples of Northern Europe, especially the Finns and Laplanders and one of the objects he had in view in returning to the United States was to inform this country in regard to the conditions there with which he has been well acquainted in the past and which he has investigated since the war closed.

It is of interest to know that Prof. Cotter, who is a Fellow of the Royal Geographical society, was professor of English in the Royal University of Pekin under the last dynasty. He has also occupied a similar position in Finland under the Finnish government. During the war he was assistant consul in Sweden.

Since his arrival here he has lectured before the class in Russian history at the University of Southern California on the relations between Russia and Finland and the conditions which culminated in the Finnish republic. He has been well acquainted with Russia and the conditions there for the past 20 years, and declares that it would be impossible for anyone without that background of knowledge to understand or interpret truly the present situation in that unhappy country.

He went there following his student days in Vienna and has ever since been in touch with affairs in Russia and other northern countries related to her.

Mrs. Wemyss hopes there will be an opportunity for Glendale to hear some of the things he has to tell first hand about a situation which is of such tremendous interest to the whole world.

F. Parker, $24; gate receipts, taken in by Mrs. Corey, $13; ice cream, under Mrs. J. G. Huntley, $22; punch bowl, under Mrs. Colin Cable, $12.10; ticket money turned in to date, $169.40.

Other donations for which the committee desires to give credit, are: Kitchen shower and cash, by Mrs. Doxsee's Bible class; Mrs. W. H. West, check for $2.50; Jesse Stine, order on Cornwell & Kelty for $5; Mr. Pratt, check for $5; Glendale Music company, use of piano at fete; City Transfer company, hauling; Jewel City Undertaking company; L. G. Scovern company, and Pulliam & Kiefer, use of chairs; Acme market and Glendale grocerteria, sugar donated for punch.

On Sunday, May 15, the following persons visited Monte Vista and took lunch for the workmen who had promised service: Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Huntley, Mrs. Ella Richardson, Mrs. C. F. Parker, Mrs. A. H. Montgomery and son Merle Budd, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Belew and Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Meeker.

Painters who donated their services were: Messrs. A. D. Hurd, J. D. Hail, J. M. York, H. E. Peterson, Glen Hurd.

Carpenters who were likewise generous with their labor were: G. C. Slate, John Witmer, J. S. Jackson and O. G. Thompson.

The Davis Transfer company carried the men to their work and brought them home. Mr. Willetts, the cigar merchant, has sent up cigars every Sunday the men have worked.

Keough-Sanders

Of interest to their many friends in Glendale is the announcement of the wedding of Alvin E. Sanders of the Buick agency, 237 South Brand boulevard, and Miss Dorothea Keough.

Rev. Dr. S. B. Warner, 439 North Kenwood street, this city, performed the marriage ceremony on Sunday evening, May 15, at the home of the bride, 4027 La Salle street, Los Angeles. The wedding party stood beneath a huge wedding bell of white carnations and the home was prettily decorated for the occasion in a pink and white color scheme, carried out by means of masses of fragrant carnations. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mildred Keough, and the groom by his brother, Charles L. Sanders. Only immediate relatives and a few intimate friends were guests of the happy occasion.

Mrs. Sanders is a former resident of Glendale and is known to her friends here as a woman of accomplishments and charm. Mr. Sanders is popular in a wide circle of friends; he is an ex-service man, having served at Kelly Field, Texas, as instructor and lecturer on internal combustion engines.

After a brief honeymoon which they are spending at Avalon, Catalina island, Mr. and Mrs. Sanders will be at home to their friends in a cozy home on Oak street.

A coincidence that added a pretty bit of sentiment to this wedding was the fact that both the groom's father and mother and the bride's father and mother were celebrating their wedding anniversaries on the same date and even at the same hour.

CHAMBER BOOSTS FOR NAVAL BASE

Committee Appointed to Confer With City Trustees on Swimming Pool

Members of the Chamber of Commerce directorate who were present at the weekly luncheon held today in the bungalow of the domestic science department of the high school, were President Cooper, Secretary Rhoades, and Directors Smith, White, Bentley, Ferry, Huntley, Emery, Lusby, Gregg and Kent.

The financial report of the secretary, showing balance on hand May 1 of $3401, was accepted.

The action taken by Secretary Rhoades after conference with some of the directors in sending telegrams to Senator Hiram Johnson and Congressman Lineburger, urging them to use all possible influence to secure a naval base for the Pacific coast and a fleet in these waters as a matter of protection to this coast and the entire nation, was approved.

The secretary also reported having had 1325 cards printed for window cards announcing holiday closing, and the board voted to distribute same free among members.

A petition asking action to oppose the use for cemetery purposes of land recently acquired by the Forest Lawn memorial park company was presented by the secretary, and after a discussion in which members expressed a wish to hear arguments in favor of the proposition as well as against it, the board voted to lay the matter on the table.

J. G. Huntley presented a suggestion made by Francis J. W. Henry relative to a method of financing a swimming pool, viz., that the city trustes be asked to make an assessment district of the entire city and assess an amount of say, $1 to $2 per lot according to frontage, to cover cost of such a pool and the indebtedness on Kenilworth park. The suggestion also included a proposition to locate the pool in the proposed auto park where the custodian could look after it in addition to his other dutles. The plan met with favor and on motion of Mr. Huntley the board voted to have a committee appointed to confer with the city trustees concerning the matter.

Mr. Huntley also reported, as chairman of a committee appointed to ascertain the approximate cost of the proposed opening at Broadway and Central avenues, that it would cost in the neighborhood of $28,000 for property damages and road improvement not counting the triangle of land which had been suggested for park purposes. That would cost an additional $12,000, an expenditure to which his committee, he said, was opposed.

The board voted to approve Mr. Huntley's report in all particulars.

Petitions calling for signatures of persons desirous of securing an independent post office for Glendale were passed around among members.

The luncheon was prepared by Misses Katherine Gray and Dorothy Kendall. It was a delicious repast. The table was centered with calendulas.

TAGGING ALL THE BASES

Duster Mails couldn't stop the heavy-hitting Yanks, and Huggins' men increased their lead in Ben Johnson's circuit.

The Reds celebrated victory a little prematurely when they fell on big Fred Toney for four runs in the fifth. The Giants came right back in their side of the same frame with five markers and the ex-world's champions never had another look-in.

The Cardinals want to play out the rest of the season in Brooklyn. The reason? They walloped the Robins again.

Williams' home run enabled the Phillies to rise up and smite the league-leading Pirates, who couldn't fathom Causey's pitching.

The Braves had little or no trouble in beating the Cubs, mainly because Vaughn's offerings didn't puzzle them.

Red Faber won another for the White Sox, going to the rescue of Dick Kerr just as the Athletics were about to run away with the game.

Heavy hitting by Pratt and Hendryx of the Red Sox, ruined the day for the Browns.

The Senators foolishly tried to outslug the Tigers, who, having Cobb, had the margin. The Georgia Peach contributed four hits, which included a double and a triple.

FINE ATTRACTION AT PALACE GRAND

In "Straight Is the Way," the picture dramatization of "The Manifestation of Henry Ort," Ethel Watts Mumford's delightful ouija board satire, which will be shown at the Palace Grand theater today only, Director Robert G. Vignola has caught the spirit injected into the story by the author and has produced a motion picture in keeping with his high reputation for screen plays.

Deft touches of brilliant satire, delightfully human characterizations, and droll situations which from a scenic, histrionic, literary and directorial point of view, reaches a remarkably high standard.

The exteriors for this picture were taken in a historic spot. Respecting the author's psychology, Director Vignola made his exteriors in the locale where the author originally set the story. This is the famous old Sands Point homestead at Sands Point, Long Island, which was built in 1668, and which Mrs. Mumford uses as a summer residence. History mentions the fact that this house played an important part in Indian massacres of pre-revolutionary days.

"WORLDS APART" AT GLENDALE THEATER

"Worlds Apart," is the title of Eugene O'Brien's latest Selznick picture which the Glendale theater presents as its principal photoplay attraction today and tomorrow.

There are many reasons to believe that this production will provide a more than usually enjoyable evening's entertainment. The first and principal one is, of course, the star himself, and the announcement that in one series of scenes in this John Lynch story he appears as master of the hunt and leads a field of thoroughbreds over the famous Warrington course in Virginia, should be a source of keen anticipation to the many admirers of Eugene O'Brien.

The story of "Worlds Apart" deals with the bitter disillusionment of a young man who is only saved from becoming a bitter cynic through the chance meeting with another who has suffered more than he. They join forces and the union leads to the untangling of a mystery and ultimately great happiness.

Even the men who believe in the "new freedom" for women, oppose their doing these things: Chewing gum in public, using profanity and kissing other women.

ENJOY SOCIAL HOUR LAST SUNDAY NIGHT

The young people of the Tropico Presbyterian Christian Endavor Society enjoyed a pleasant social half-hour on Sunday evening, Mrs. S. H. Wilcox and Miss Tirzah Snell acting as hostesses.

The meeting of the society, which was led by Miss Nancy St. Clair, was one of unusual interest. E. W. Thwing, a returned missionary from China, taught the young people a service song and also a Chinese song. Paul Brown, state field secretary of the Christian Endeavor work, gave an interesting talk on opportunities for service; one of these, he said, was the coming Christian Endeavor convention, when Glendale members may demonstrate the benefits to be derived from Christian Endeavor work to the visitors, to many of whom this will be a first experience in such a convention. Mr. Thwing's account of the work of a young school teacher in organizing and successfully carrying on the work of a Christian Endeavor society of 85 members in the far northwest corner of the state, where there was no church, was listened to with great interest.

It is planned to make the social hour a feature of this month's meetings. Luncheon was served by the hostesses, assisted by several of the younger girls of the society.

There will be a program early in the evening on the athletic field and an assembly in the auditorium which will be conducted by officers of the student body.

Katherine Sweet of Los Angeles was made department chaplain, all the other officers were from the north. Comrade Knoll of Stanton Post, Los Angeles, was elected department commander.

muzzled during the long, hot summer months. He can drink only with difficulty and he can eat only when some one removes the muzzle for him. As stated in your paper yesterday, a careless master may put the muzzle on tight and then forget to feed his dog at proper times. This state of affairs conduces to make the dog sick and cross, the very thing we want to guard against in hot weather.

"I was glad to see that the Daily Press gave space to the opinions of Glendale residents on this question. I suggest that a mass meeting be called to discuss it pro and con. I hope that other dog lovers besides myself will call you up immediately or send in communications on the subject."

SPRING-TIME IS HERE
AND the Mountains and Canyons are calling to you.
It is wild-flower time in the beautiful hills. The streams are especially alluring, and the pine trees sigh with the voice of contentment.
Get one of our "Hiking" folders, learn the paths of this Arcady of ours and plan week-end visits to Nature's playground.
This railway will convey you to the entrances of "Hiker's-land."
